peal committee reported. The amount is an increase of $40,000 over last year.

Molasky said the results were "excellent."

the best one to date. Nine speakers urged members of the various congregations to "invest in Israel" during services held on the first day of Rosh Hashonah, Yom Kippur and Succoth.

Synagogues participating in the appeal include Beth Abraham, Beth Israel, Brith Shalom, Beth Yehuda, Chesed Shel Emeth, Chevra Kadisha, Sherei Thilim, Tpheris Israel and Shaare Zedek.

Condemn Use Of "Kosher Style"

The St. Louis Orthodox rabbinate condemned the use of "kosher style" in the sales promotion of restaurants and delicatessen stores in a statement made public last week. The eight rabbis who signed the statement charged that merchants who use the "kosher style" slogan, while not actually serving kosher food, are intentionally confusing the public.

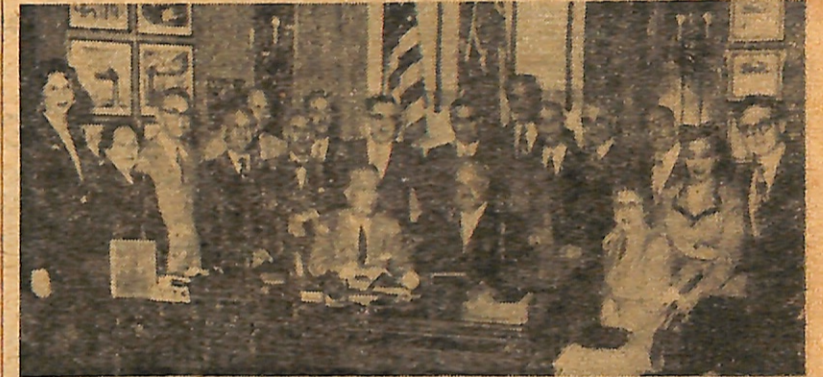

"With grave concern we view the fact that with the shift of the Jewish population to the western parts of our city, a few individuals opened so-called 'Kosher Style' Restaurants and Delicatessens in the new settlements. These unscrupulous merchants, who break and destroy age-old traditions, operate 'Trefa' establishments, while disguising themselves as 'kosher style' to confuse the public."

"We emphatically state that 'Kosher Style' is 'Trefa.' A product is either Kosher or it is not. 'Kosher Style' is an unfair attempt to capitalize on the accepted high standards of Kashruth.

"Jews of St. Louis! Do not be misled by 'Kosher Style' signs or advertisements. Stay away from the places where, under the disguise of 'Kosher Style' real 'Trefa' is being sold." Signed:

Rabbi M. H. Eichenstein, Rabbi A. E. Halpern, Rabbi Chas. Hartman, Rabbi S. Rivkin, Rabbi S. H. Klibansky, Rabbi J. R. Mazur, Rabbi E. Epstein, Rabbi B. Cohen.

Mayor Tucker Presents Key Of City To Beersheba Mayor

Mayor Raymond R. Tucker of St. Louis welcomed Mayor David Tuviah of Beersheba to St. Louis by presenting him with a key of the city at his office last Friday. Earlier Mayor Tuviah presented an album to the St. Louis Mayor harsh wilderness. The pioneering work of its inhabitants and the establishment of the State of Israel lead us to hope that we will be able to emulate your example and succeed, with the encouragement of our friends in the enlightened made in the last years.

In presenting the album Mayor Tuviah said:

"Mr. Mayor, I am grateful to you for having spared a few moments of your valuable time to receive me, although I know you to be very busy with the affairs of this great and growing city."

"The town of Beersheba, whose mayor I have the honor to be, has before it constantly the example set by your early American pioneers who strode forward fearlessly into the unknown to subdue one wilderness after another and thus lay the foundations for the future great American nation."

"The town of Beersheba, which is indelibly associated with the ancient glories of the fathers of the Jewish race and the spirit of the first disciples of monotheism, is also located in the heart of a creating a great nation, dedicated to peace."

"It is a great pleasure to be able to give you a glimpse of our town Beersheba in the form of this album which illustrates its development in the five years since it has been reborn. Thank you."

The greeting, spoken in Hebrew, was translated by Victor Packman. Mayor Tucker accepted the gift with "great pleasure" and presented the key of the city to Mayor Tuviah. Mayor Tucker recalled that a few weeks ago Mrs. Bach, on behalf of the Jerusalem Mayor, had presented him with two Bibles, which he keeps at home. Mayor Tucker also mentioned that he might pay Israel a visit next year.

Arrangements were also made to show Mayor Tuviah the city water works, in which he repeatedly expressed his interest.

SUPPORT OF UN VITAL FOR WORLD PEACE

By CHARLES L. KLOTZER

In the northwest section of Missouri, William C. Cole, of St. Joseph, Republican incumbent, has openly advocated United States withdrawal from the United Nations. Cole's violent denunciation of the United Nations comes as a surprise in view of President Eisenhower's endorsement of the U.N.

Opposition to the United Nations is not confined to one party. This week has been proclaimed United Nations Week in St. Louis by Mayor Raymond R. Tucker, and it is therefore, particularly appropriate to discuss some of the more common criticisms of the United Nations.

The Use Of The Veto

The use of the veto has been the topic of many arguments. It is claimed that cooperation in the Security Council, where the veto can be applied by the big powers, is impeded by that practice, that essential decisions cannot be reached because of obstructionist policies by the big powers. Is that true? Is it not rather that the veto is a necessary adjustment taking into account the power constellation among states? Representation in the United Nations is by sovereign states—not by population, that means that ten per cent of the world's population might impose its opinion upon the remaining majority. Abolition of the veto would not help, but destroy the United Nations.

Merely Opinions

Numerous decisions reached but opposed by one of the major powers without the application of the veto prove that such decisions become merely expressions of opinion and cannot be implemented. For example, no free elections were ever held in North Korea, no investigations were ever conducted in Rumania, Hungary, or Bulgaria, although the U.N. voted to initiate such action. Even lesser powers can thwart action by the United Nations. A simple refusal by Egypt to cooperate was sufficient to invalidate a Security Council directive to desist from interfering with the passage of goods through the Suez Canal destined for Israel.

At every turn we must face the inescapable fact that the U.N. is composed of sovereign states. Without the veto the major powers, who can afford to get along without the U.N., would leave this body if a decision was reached against

Women Are The Soul Of Social Welfare—Edison

These officers of the Women's Division of the Jewish Federation of St. Louis are Mrs. Bram Lewin, Mrs. Morris Shenker, vice-presidents, Mrs. Max Salmiker, president, Mrs. Earle K. Rosen and Mrs. Harry I. Berland, vice-presidents, Mrs. Shenker, Mrs. Rosen and Mrs. Berland were elected and installed in office at the Annual Meeting of the Women's Division on Thursday, October 14th.

Women's Division Elect New Officers At Annual Meeting

"Women are the soul of our social welfare activities," Irving Edison declared at the annual meeting of the Women's Division of the Jewish Federation of St. Louis, which took place on Thursday, October 14, in the Florentine room at Garavelli's. In paying tribute to Jewish women and their voluntary organizations, Edison defined the community as depending in essence on its human element. He exhibited a large metal structure in a cubistic representation of the human form as the symbol of the community. The head was a square of gold, representing intellect and reason. The chest was of silver, precious because it contained the human heart. The lower torso was of copper to denote the social institutions. The limbs were steel and stood for the professions, such as social work, through whom the community acts. The feet were clay, the basis on which it rested. Such were the volunteer workers in the community. Edison then illustrated their importance by means of a hammer which he took to symbolize all the devious tendencies in society that lurk in the background and threaten to tear it apart. One blow of the hammer at the feet of clay, the foundations of society, brought the whole structure down.

The second speaker was W. Clark Ellzey, member of the faculty of Stephens College, Columbia, Mo., and noted authority on youth, marriage and family problems. Declaring that "women today enjoy the greatest opportunity in history," he traced the changing pattern of their status in society throughout the ages. From mere chattel in man's possession, creatures without soul according to some of the world's great religions, dispossessed and servile until not long ago, the

$2,300,000 Israel Bonds Sold In Synagogues During High Holy Days

More than $2,300,000 in State of Israel Development Bonds were sold during the Rosh Hashonah and Yom Kippur services of some two hundred synagogues that have thus far reported to National Headquarters of the Israel Bond Organization in New York, it was announced by Rudolf G. Sonneborn, president of the Bond Organization. This total is expected to be substantially increased as additional synagogues report.

Israel Bond Celebration Will Be Sell-Out — Finder

Heavy response to request for tickets and advance sale of bonds for the forthcoming local celebration of the 3000th Anniversary of the founding of Jerusalem, at which veteran actor Edward G. Robinson will be honored guest, indicates that the event sponsored by the St. Louis Committee, State of Israel Bonds, will be a "sell-out," Leonard V. Finder, Bond Chairman, announced.

Scheduled for 8 p. m. Tuesday, Oct. 26, in the Gold Room, Jefferson Hotel, the "Admission Buy-Israel Bonds" celebration of Jerusalem's founding will feature a "gala" festival program in addition to the celebrated actor Edward G. Robinson.

A number of local lay leaders will also receive "Guardian of Israel" pins in recognition of their assistance to the new State of Israel through their support of the bond program, Finder said.

Tpheris Israel Renames Schools "Aaron Mass Educational Center"

The Tpheris Israel Hebrew and Sunday schools were dedicated "The Aaron Mass Educational Center" by Rabbi Charles Hartman in memory of the late Aaron Mass. Aaron Mass, a well-known Talmudic scholar, had served as cantor and schochet in the Orthodox Jewish community. He had been cantor with B'nai Amoona for thirty years and as instructor of Talmud with Tpheris Israel for ten years.

The Tpheris Israel educational center will be greatly expanded for children and adults in the near future. The expansion program was made possible by pledges of $20,000 by the Tpheris Israel Congregation during the High Holiday Yiskor services.

25,000 Volunteers Help Raise $6,100,00 For Community Chest

The 1955 Community Chest Campaign officially opened last Monday, Oct. 18. Chapin S. Newhard, general campaign chairman, said, "All 25,000 volunteers in St. Louis City and County are now working to bring in the $6,100,000 minimum goal to help support the 102 Red Feather agencies and the USO during the coming year, 1955."

Newhard made this statement at the Chest drive's opening ceremonies on the corner of Eighth and Olive Streets, Monday morning. He also said, "The Community Chest is an organization that not only raises funds but maintains constant control over those funds through a budgeting system—and our agencies need the funds we're raising to participate in the re-

Ten Million Volunteers Will Raise Five Billion In 1954

Five billion dollars will be raised during 1954 in the United States by ten million American volunteer workers for every conceivable cause from the smallest synagogue or church to the largest, multi-million dollar UJA or national health campaign.

This is reported by two experts in the field, Edwin S. Newman and Leo J. Margolin, both executives of the American Jewish Committee, in the book, "Fundraising Made Easy" ($2.50), just published by Oceana Publications (New York). The introduction is by Edward L. Bernays, public relations counsel and author.

"Unparalleled in any other country in the world," the authors declare, "this magnificent achievement of voluntarism is one of democracy's unchallenged arguments to any totalitarianism."

Specifically dedicated to the ten million volunteer workers who raise the five billion dollars, the book pays them a special tribute.

Mr. Newman is on the executive staff of the American Jewish Committee, and Mr. Margolin, who teaches public relations in New York University's Graduate School of Public Administration and Social Service, is AJC's public relations director.

Henry F. Chadeayne To Address Jewish Young Adult Council

The part that young adults can play in developing civic progress and good citizenship will be discussed by Henry F. Chadeayne, principle speaker at the Sixth Annual Meeting of the Young Adult Council of the Jewish Federation, which will be held at Harris Hall, Temple Shaare Emeth, Trinity at Delmar, on October 31, from 2 to 5 p. m.

Chadeayne, former Democratic candidate for mayor of St. Louis, one of the original organizers of the Community Chest and controller of the General American Life Insurance Company, is scheduled to speak as part of the overall Young Adult meeting that will stress "Tomorrow's Leaders Are Here Today!"

Burton Gale, chairman of the planning committee of the Young Adult Council, stressed that:

"We feel that this program is very timely since we in St. Louis are deeply engrossed in the civic progress of our city. We are very fortunate to have a man of Mr. Chadeayne's experience speak to us, and I feel that each of us as good citizens should attend because from our ranks grow the leaders of tomorrow."

During the Annual Meeting there will be an installation of officers and election of the Board of Directors, and there will be dancing and refreshments afterwards.

YOU and YOUR CHILD

By Abraham J. Simon, Ph. D.,
Executive Director, Jewish Child Welfare Association of St. Louis

We have overcome a great deal in this area can be initially resisted. of prudity about pregnancy. No longer is shamefaced concealment the lot of the expectant mother.

Dr. Simon

In that interesting novel of immigrant slum life, "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn," the Irish heroine is impressed with the proudly, almost exhibitionistic attitude of the pregnant Jewish women, so different from the painful shyness of the pregnant women she knew. She develops an interesting fantasy to explain this difference. Jewish women are proud because each one believes that the she is carrying will be another Jesus!

Nowadays, nobody is shy about pregnancy. People feel comfortable enough about it so that if children themselves don't take the initiative to inquire as to this astonishing distention of the abdomen, it is pointed out that a baby is inside. But when the child asks how it got started, and how it will get out, down come the curtain of shyness! Most of us get as close as a vague mention of daddy planting a seed in mommy, and go on to generalize about hospitals being the place where the baby gets born.

Why is it so important, as I infer, that children be told the facts about impregnation and delivery when they are ready for the information? The answer is very simple. When a question arises in the human mind, an answer must be forthcoming. If the environment does not provide the correct answer, the mind will create an incorrect one, if it cannot deduce the correct one from the data at hand.

The correct answer is not always readily accepted. The child may decide that the parental version of impregnation and delivery flies in the face of manifest evidence, and that the informant is fibbing. Babies obviously cannot possibly come out of such narrow tubes! The relationship between a seed and a tree requires more knowledge than a child's mind contains.

Therefore, a completely blind confidence in the reliability and truthfulness of the informant must be present, otherwise truthfulness

There is a constant risk that the child will generate certain "logical" theories based on deductions from clearly manifest data. It is easy to imagine that the abdominal distention comes from eating in general, or by eating certain foods, or the "seed" can be planted via the mouth by kissing. Delivery might be effected in the same way as defecation. Or a child is born via the mouth by vomiting. A most common theory, because children hear operations discussed so frequently is that all children are born by Caesarean section.

There is great danger that such theories, and the anxieties they generate, remain fixed in the personality structures of children. Later on, as grown persons, they acquire the scientific information. But the two sets of ideas: (1) the infantile fantastic theory, and (2) the adult scientific theory, can get mixed up with each other often during a pregnancy. Psychiatrists believe that many of the irrational food fads of pregnant women stem from such confusions, as well as some morning nausea, and many of the fears with which women face childbirth. It is as though ghosts of the pregnant woman's childhood arise to haunt her when she is experiencing childbirth. If we see to it that childhood has no ghastly misconceptions, adulthood will not be haunted by them.

Jewish Leaders Hear of Large-Scale Philanthropic Efforts in '55

WORCHESTER — Despite great achievements during the past decade, changes in Jewish needs overseas and at home will demand continued large-scale philanthropic efforts through central Jewish community campaign in 1955, it was reported here to 150 Jewish leaders attending the 20th New England Regional Conference of the Council of Jewish Federations and Welfare Funds.

Herbert R. Abeles of Newark, a vice-president of the CJFWF, and Philip Bernstein, Associate Director of the CJFWF, surveyed the shifting needs in Israel, North Africa, Europe and in this country. After full discussion of the needs and measures to meet them, the delegates agreed that only by continued emphasis on the "primacy and centrality" of local Jewish campaigns could American Jewry hope to meet its tremendous responsibilities in the coming year. Judge Saul Seidman of Hartford was elected President of the Region for the coming year. He succeeds Bernard H. Trager of Bridgeport who held the position for two years.

"The great task of American Jewish philanthropy in Israel is now to enable that country to become economically self-sufficient, to help it expand its agriculture, and to aid it in providing decent housing for all recent arrivals," Mr. Abeles declared. "In Morocco, there are greatly increased needs resulting from recent events. We can and must provide the necessary assistance before the needs become more serious."

J. Y. O. Co-Ed Bowling League Starts October 31

The J. Y. O. Co-Ed Bowling League will begin on Sunday, October 31, at 6:15 p. m. at Nelson Burton's, 5626 Delmar, it was announced at a J. Y. O. Delegate meeting last week at the Y. M. H. A. by Herb Blaukopf, J. C. C. A. Teenage Director.

Teenagers from 30 J. Y. O. groups will enjoy a free game and soda at that time. Non-affiliates are welcome to join as are beginning bowlers. Beginners will receive handicaps so they may successfully compete with a skilled bowler. Teams, captains and league officers will be selected at the first meeting.

The heavy demand by teenagers for a co-ed bowling league resulted in the development of this program last year on an experimental basis. The league proved to be an outstanding success as people bowled, made friends, had a party, received emblems and trophies. This year numerous requests were made to start the league again.

The league will meet on Sundays from 6:15 to 8:30 and special bowling rates including rental of shoes will be made available to league players. Further information can be obtained by contacting J. C. C. A. Teenage Director Herb Blaukopf, 724 N. Union, FO. 7-7050.

Sports

by HANK MORRIS

Every baseball fan has marveled at the great pitching records of Christy Mathewson, Walter Johnson, Cy Young, Bobby Feller, Carl Hubbell, etc., but this season a young St. Louisan has set some new ones that make them all seem pallid by comparison. In his first full season in organized baseball, this left-hander won 34 games while losing none, starting and finishing every game his team played. Included in this total were twelve no-hit games and better than twenty shut-outs. His opposition averaged two hits and nineteen strikeouts per game. He reached perfection one afternoon when he struck out all of the twenty-one batters who faced him in a seven-inning contest.

The owner of this phenomenal record is Kenny Holtzman, eight-year-old pitcher in the Atom Division of the Khoury League. He is fifty-four inches tall and is average weight for his age. He possesses a blazing fast ball, a good change-of-pace and, probably his greatest asset, pin-point control, something very rarely found in pitchers three times his age.

His ability to bear down in a tight spot was tested during one of the big play-off games. With the score tied late in the game, there were opposing baserunners on second and third and none out. Kenny came through, striking out the next three batters on nine pitches.

His father, Henry Holtzman, is an outstanding athlete in his own right, but these days he would rather talk about Kenny than his own exploits. Kenny's future progress will be carefully followed and maybe twelve or so years from now

Star Sports Editor Talks At B'nai El Men's Club

Hank Morris, sports editor of the Jewish Star, discussed the fate of the Cleveland Indians at a "sports night" arranged by the B'nai El Men's Club.

Following the dinner the youngsters present were presented with baseballs autographed by the Cardinals. Free tickets to next year's ball games were distributed as attendance prizes. The Club also showed a St. Louis Cardinal training movie narrated by Harry Caray.

Hank Morris was introduced by Jack Kramer, secretary of the Men's Club.

Women In Social Welfare

women have finally emerged as independent social beings with all the prerogatives this status implies.

Much has been achieved, Ellzey declared, although some of the older attitudes toward the "weaker" sex persist in the thinking of our male contemporaries. "The modern woman's trouble is that she doesn't have a modern man to go with her," the speaker said.

The meeting also saw the election and installation of new officers and Board of Directors members. Two vice-presidents, Mrs. Earle K. Rosen and Mrs. Morris Shenker, were elected to full two-year terms. Mrs. Harry I. Berland was elected to fill the one-year unexpired term of Mrs. Harold Cook, whose resignation was announced at the meeting. The Board of Directors, which consists of thirty-six members, elects twelve of them every year for three-year terms. New members this year are Mrs. Arnold Block, Mrs. Joseph Chused, Mrs. Harold Cutler, Mrs. William Cytron, Mrs. Milton Epstein, Mrs. I. Jerome Flance, Mrs. James Goldenberg, Mrs. David Littauer, Mrs. Morris Snitzer, Mrs. Malcolm Steiner, Mrs. Robert Treiman and Mrs. Sander Zwick.

Chairman of the program committee for the Annual Meeting was outgoing vice-president Mrs. Harold Cook. A historical exhibit in observance of the American Jewish Tercentenary year was prepared by Mrs. William Shamski of the Historical Committee of the Women's Division. President of the Women's Division is Mrs. Max Salkiner. More than a hundred women attended the meeting.
